

Hello everyone, I am Miss Clay and I am the Year 2 class teacher and SENCO at Dean Field. Colourful Semantics is a system for colour coding sentences according to the role of different words that we use in school.

It helps children to break down sentences and understand the individual meaning of each word and it's role in the sentence. It can help children to better understand word order. Check out our top tips for parents to support with the use of Colourful Semantics at home.

Colourful Semantics - Parent Information – Will be sent as a message following this newsletter but can also be found on our school website.

The National Deaf Children's Society is there for every deaf child who needs them – no matter what their level or type of deafness or how they communicate.
